

July Mega Sale!!!

GET SET. Strap on your jet packs. Go. No, this is not a space jaunt at the speed of light but an exhilarating – and potentially exhausting – shopping marathon at whatever speed your wallet can muster. From haute couture and high-gloss brands to home grown fashion, Kuala Lumpur, has it all.

1 MidValley Mega Mall

Retail outlets inside Mid Valley cover a wide scope which includes but is not limited to fashion, electronics, computers, gifts, souvenirs, groceries, appliances and much more. Many famous designer brands have shops here, as well as popular names in watches and diamonds. Mid Valley truly offers a great shopping experience to both locals and visitors.

2 Suria KLCC

The mall has six levels of retail outlets that include big names in categories fashion and accessories. These include Marks & Spencer, Tiffany & Co, DKNY, Calvin Klein and Polo. The famous Japanese department store Isetan has a branch here along with a Japanese book store called Kinokuniya.

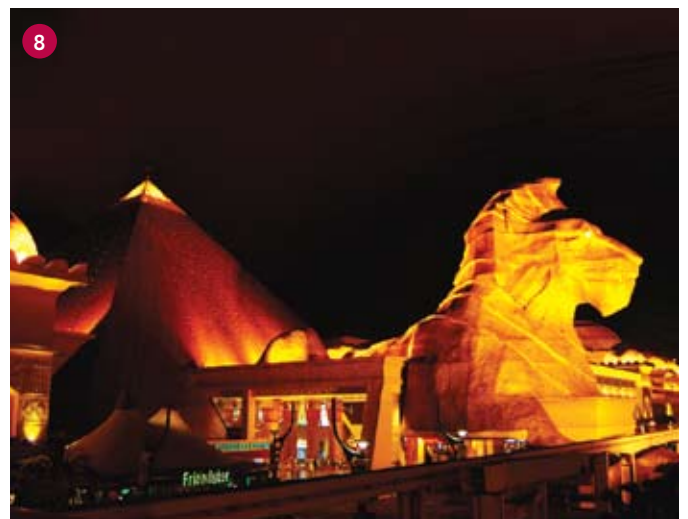

restaurants and avant-garde cafes where you can feast on some delicious food. Otherwise, you can binge in fast food outlets such as McDonald's and Kentucky Fried Chicken. As the space is tight, weekend visits can get pretty claustrophobic with the sheer amount of local shoppers.

3 Bukit Bintang Plaza (BB Plaza)

Today, Bukit Bintang Plaza remains one of KL's most popular shopping malls for its sheer number of establishments and trendy shops with a culture for bargaining. This mall is the place to look for wild and unorthodox fashion with a distinct Chinese flavour. You can also get a good number of electronics, especially cell phones and other mobile accessories. In addition, there are a large number of Chinese

4 Sungei Wang Plaza

Sungei Wang Plaza offers a nice range of products to shop, including branded clothing for teenagers, fashion accessories, DVDs, souvenirs, household decorative items and much more. The ground floor is a good place to shop for cell phones as there are booths which line the balcony that overlooks the lower ground floor, forming a square in the centre of the mall. Here, mobile phone dealers constantly compete to provide the latest hand phones and you'll be spoilt for choice. Right up at the top on the 6th floor is a series of fashion shops called 'T-Hop'. This is where you can get Hong-Kong styled fashion clothing for youth, along with some toy shops and restaurants.

5 Lot 10
 Located in Bukit Bintang, Lot 10 shopping centre is a popular haunt for mid-market shoppers. The main tenant is Isetan, which stocks a good range of goods from groceries to electronic appliances and clothes to tools, many of them being Japanese brands. However, there are many other retail shops selling things from gifts to books inside.

6 Pavilion
 The Pavilion Kuala Lumpur is the latest shopping mall to open in the Bukit Bintang area. This posh and trendy shopping mall has a European design and contemporary environment. At seven storeys-high, the Pavilion has over 1.37 million sq ft of shopping space with an exciting array of designer brands and fashion goods among the retail outlets.

7 1Utama
 One Utama has over 600 shops that cater to a wide range of shoppers retailing fashion accessories, electrical appliances, pets, knick-knacks and other merchandise.

The mall has several prominent sections meant to entertain visitors, including a Rainforest House, which is a zone planted with over 100 species of flora and dotted with al-fresco cafes and restaurants. The entertainment section on the other hand, has cinemas, a bowling alley, karaoke lounge and indoor rock climbing gym. As the mall is extremely wide, be prepared to walk quite a distance to cover all the shops!

8 Sunway Pyramid
 Sunway Pyramid, has a distinct Egyptian architecture in its outlook. The mall houses more than 350 outlets that retail fashion clothing, accessories, shoes, jewellery, timepieces, music, videos, gifts, souvenirs, leathers, books and electrical products. For entertainment, Sunway Pyramid was the first mall to incorporate an ice-skating rink which is still popular today. In addition, the mall has a 48-lane bowling alley and cinema halls. The boulevard outside the mall entrance has some fine restaurants, cafés and pubs, some of which are al-fresco.
